

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force its stations to broadcast an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a violation of its legal obligation to serve the public interest. It provides compelling evidence that media ownership rules and licensing procedures need to be strengthened. It requires the revival of the Fairness Doctrine.